RIDE AND DRIVE SERVICES

CLOSED COURSE:

Our research and development (R&D) model is designed to optimize customer throughput and enhance the overall experience. Through firsthand data collected from our ongoing R&D programs in collaboration with other major automotive brands, we have demonstrated the return on investment (ROI) of a closed loop track experience.

Starting with track design, we strategically plan loading and unloading techniques to ensure smooth operations and create opportunities for generating high volume brand and product awareness. When selecting locations and event partners, we prioritize brand target demographics while seeking synergy in both quantity and quality. Our mission is to position high-volume tracks within affluent lifestyle events and sought-after locations, creating an immersive experience that resonates with our customers.

The guided experience on our dynamic courses is carefully designed to strike the perfect balance, allowing for optimal product immersion. Moreover, our courses are adaptable and can be modified by our experienced drivers and staff to provide a tailor-made experience that meets individual preferences.

For the closed course experience, our professional drivers expertly operate the vehicles, showcasing various product features and ensuring an ideal demonstration of their capabilities.

With our R&D model and focus on closed loop track experiences, we aim to deliver exceptional brand engagement and a truly memorable driving experience for our customers.

PUBLIC STREETS:

Our programs are carefully designed to create immersive product experiences that maximize customer engagement, taking into account the location and target demographics. While organizing 'pop-up' displays outside conventions, popular city attractions, and diverse lifestyle events presents its challenges in terms of calculating the duration of the experience and managing controlled throughput, our creative planning ensures that the traditional R&D model remains effective in generating brand and product awareness within the target market.

When selecting locations and event partners, we prioritize aligning with the brand's target demographics while seeking synergy in both quantity and quality. Our mission is to collaborate with the right venues, events, and attractions that resonate with our target audience.

The length of the public experience is carefully determined to provide consumers with ample opportunity to fully immerse themselves in the product. It includes safe drives along low-traffic roads and scenic routes, allowing participants to not only witness but also take the wheel. Moreover, our selection of public courses can be modified by our skilled drivers and staff to ensure a personalized experience tailored to individual preferences.

By leveraging our programs and focusing on the right venues, events, and attractions, we aim to provide a truly unique and memorable experience for consumers, while effectively promoting brand engagement and product awareness within the target market.
